MANY NEW PENSIONERS

A Quarter of a Million Added to the Rolls.

TALK WITH COMMISSIONER RAUM.

Under the Dependent Pension Bill It Will Be Necessary to Employ 400 Additional Clerks in Order to Have Claims Adjudicated Promptly—A Man Who Could Have Saved Lincolns' Life—Other Washington City News.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—The old soldiers who are entitled to pensions under the dependent bill just approved by the president are likely to have their claims adjudicated promptly. It is estimated that under this law, fully a quarter of a million persons will be added to the pension roll. Gen. Raum, commissioner of pensions, who is making every possible effort to meet this emergency, says: "An additional allowance of some 400 clerks have been asked for because the present force has all it can do now. The new law will, according to the senate estimate, put 300,000 more cases on the rolls. Of course this calculation is more or less liable to be inaccurate. It would be impossible for the present force to handle all this extra work in addition to what they are doing now, and so I have asked for more clerks.

To Be Carried Right Through.

"There are to be ten more principal examiners, I believe, and the others are to be divided through the various grades of clerks. No new division is to created, but the work will be so divided that cases under the new law will move right along abreast of the old cases. It would be unjust to make claimants under this latest act wait and take their turn. So instead of putting the new cases behind the rest we will begin work on them at once and carry them right through as fast as possible. Cases that are well presented, in which there are no unfavorable conditions, may be got through and adjudicated in a month, I should think. We issued, just as soon as the president signed the bill, thousands of pamphlets containing the text of the act, the rules governing cases under it, and blank forms for claimants to fill out. These are now being distributed to claimants and many are also being sent to Grand Army posts for the information of members."

THE ASSASSINATION OF LINCOLN.

How the Bloody Tragedy Might Have Been Prevented.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—The one man in the world who could have prevented the assassination of President Lincoln is dead. John Frederick Parker, born in Winchester, Va., came to Washington some time before the firing upon Fort Sumter, and soon found employment upon the metropolitan police force. When in 1862, it was decided to strengthen the regular force of doorkeepers and watchmen at the White House with a squad of policemen, Parker was one of those selected. It thus happened that when President Lincoln and party entered the old Ford theatre on the night of Good Friday, 1865, they were accompanied by Parker as guard. He took his position at the door to the private box from which President Lincoln watched the performance, where he was expected to remain and prevent the entrance of every one except the members of the party.

As the play proceeded, Parker, from his post, could hear just enough of what was said on the stage to arouse his curiosity, and it was not long before he left the door and edged his way toward the auditorium. He finally took a seat in the orchestra or "pit," as it was then called, where he had scarcely settled himself when the whole audience was surprised by the report of a pistol shot. The assassin, Booth, had stealthily approached the door of the president's private box, where, finding no one to challenge him, he entered unannounced and fired the fatal shot. There is no question in the minds of those who are familiar with the details that had Parker remained at his post Booth could never have taken President Lincoln unawares.

The National Election Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—It is certain that three Republicans will vote against the national election bill, and the capitol gossips have it that several other members of the majority party will also oppose it, either by direct vote, or by absenting themselves when the vote is taken. The members who will surely vote against the bill are Messrs. Ewart of North Carolina, Coleman of Louisiana, and Lehlbach of New Jersey. It is said that seven other Republicans, three from the south, one from New England, and three from the west, will vote "No." It is known that some of these are opposed to the bill, but whether or not they will sacrifice party interests and vote against the measure is doubtful. Less than ten breaks among the Republicans in the house would defeat the bill.

Concerts at the White House.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—The leader of the marine band has been instructed to close his public concerts with some national air. There has been some comment that the organization showed a greater partiality for the national melodies of other countries than for compositions distinctively American in their nature. The weekly concerts at the White House grounds are very largely attended. The president has adopted the practice of President Arthur, and invites personal friends to the White House during the Saturday concerts. Somebody has said that the nearest approach to a national anthem attempted by the Marine band was "Little Annie Rooney" and "Down Went McGinty."

The Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—At present the probabilities are that there will be no conference on the silver bill until Wednesday. The delay is caused by the absence of Representative Walker of Massachusetts, one of the Republican conferrees of the house. Mr. Walker was appointed while away, and has been requested to return as soon as possible, as both sides are anxious to dispose of the measure as soon as possibl

Carlisle's Successor Sworn In.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—Hon. W. H. Dickerson, was sworn in as a member of the house of representatives Monday. He is the successor of Mr. Carlisle from the Sixth Kentucky district.

More Money for Milwaukee.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—Senator Spooner introduced in the senate Monday an amendment to the sundry civil appropriation bill, increasing the appropriation for the erection of the public building at Milwaukee, Wis., to $800,000. This is an increase of $400,000.

The Day in Congress.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—Debate on the federal election bill was resumed in the house Monday morning. Herbert, of Alabama, the first speaker, made a strong speech against the bill, as unnecessary, unwise, and intended to array race against race in the south. Houk, of Tennessee, spoke earnestly in favor of the bill.

In the senate Morrill gave notice that at the earliest possible moment he would move to take up the tariff bill, not intending however, to interfere with the Idaho bill and appropriation bills. It is doubtful, however, if the tariff bill will be reached this week. The Idaho bill was taken up early in the day but was laid aside to take up the agricultural bill, which was considered and passed.

Sliding Scale of Duties.

WASHINGTON CITY, June 30.—The United States charge d'affairs at Rio de Janeiro informed the state department that by a decree of May 10, 20 per cent. on import duties is to be paid in gold when the exchange value of Brazilian milreis remains between 20 and 24 pence; when the value of milreis rises between 24 and 27 pence 19 per cent. in gold will be exacted, and when milreis are at par Brazilian paper will be accepted.

GOING TO REFORM THINGS.

A Coalition Party Getting Ready for the Fray.

LANSING, Mich., June 30.—It can be set down a decidedly off political year when Michigan does not succeed in evolving a new party. This season, however, there is to be a material change in the program. Instead of a half dozen petty organizations struggling along dismally at the end of the political procession, a big, somewhat visionary project of uniting the dissatisfied elements under one banner has been conceived.

It Will Be a Political Hash.

This amalgamation is to include the Farmers' Alliance, the Patrons of Industry, the Bellamy Nationalists club, the Knights of Labor and in fact about everything that will come into the fold. The state convention of the new party is to be held at Lansing on July 31. The call just issued for the convention by the heads of the organizations interested says tersely that the new party will be one that will lessen the burdens of taxation and usury that to-day threaten financial ruin to the farmer, mechanic and laborer.

Looks Like a Murder.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 30.—The decomposed and mutilated body of a man was found on Grand Island, Niagara river. The coroner and police are investigating, and there are suspicions that a murder has been committed. John Meisner, a farmer, disappeared very mysteriously last October. The body, which was found hidden under a pile of bushes, was badly decomposed, and the skull, devoid of flesh, was several feet from the body. A cheap watch and knife found in the tattered clothes have been identified as belonging to Meisner. John Ackerman, one of Meisner's neighbors, has been arrested charged with the murder.

Bloody Conflict in Mexico.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 29.—News reached here of a bloody battle on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande last Thursday. Col. Nicolo Vies started from his headquarters at Sabinas Sabinas, with two troops of cavalry to intercept a band of filibusters who were making for the interior of Mexico from the Rio Grande. He came upon the bandits in ambush a few miles west of Petox. In the fight which ensued Col. Vies' troops were put to rout after losing seven men killed and a number wounded. The filibusters escaped this side of the river with no loss.

Left the Body Were Found.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 30.—The body of Edmund J. Banker, aged 28, an employe of the Bluff Point quarry and at Saranac Lake, was found in the Delaware and Hudson track, near here, Sunday, by Track Walker O'Shea. O'Shea, supposing that the man required the body to be left where it was found, left it remain on the track while he came here to notify the coroner. Before the coroner reached the body several trains had passed over it, mangling it horribly.

Two Burglars Shot.

WEST SUPERIOR, Wis., June 30.—Early Sunday morning Joe Hopkins and Charles Smith, two burglars, were shot and dangerously wounded by George L. Hicks, residing at Ogden avenue. The men entered Hicks' room, when he fired, putting a bullet through the breast of each man. They ran a short distance and fell and are now at St. Francis hospital. They will probably die. Hicks was released on personal recognizance.

They Was a Grand Rascal.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Four cattlemen, who were robbed of their wages in London by a boss cattleman, arrived here Friday as stowaways on the steamship City of Chester. They were Peter Quinn, William Lington, John Doyle and Joseph Bent. They were obliged to pawn their clothes to reach Liverpool, and when there they stowed away on the City of Chester. They remained in the hold four days without food or water.

Suicide of a Veteran.

NEW YORK, June 30.—A veteran of the Thirteenth regiment New York volunteers, William Schultz, committed suicide Monday morning at 126 East Third street by cutting himself through the heart. Inability to procure a pension and the refusal of his admission to the soldiers' home is the supposed cause. He will be buried at the expense of the Waiters' Society of Humanity, of which he was a member.

Failure of a Private Bank.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—A private bank owned by John Kennedy & Son, at Tarentum, Pa., twenty-five miles north of this city, closed its doors. Liabilities, $51,000; assets, personal, $25,000; real estate, $49,000. The suspension, it is thought, is temporary and was caused by extraordinary demands. Attorney Davis Smith was chosen assignee.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 30.—Mrs. Evans, wife of Samuel McGee Evans, a wealthy and prominent citizen, was killed by being thrown from her carriage to the pavement in front of her residence at the corner of Twenty-fifth street and Troost avenue. The horses became frightened and overturned the carriage.

WORK OF THE ELEMENTS

A Terrible Tornado Visits Gallatin, Tenn.

AN AFRICAN CHURCH DEMOLISHED

And a Number of Worshipers Injured, Two Fatally—Houses Unroofed, Trees Uprooted and Fences Blown Down—A Severe Windstorm at Tiffin, Ohio—Two Great Blazes at Louisville, Ky.—Work of the Fire King Elsewhere.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—A special to The Courier Journal from Gallatin, Tenn., says: A terrible tornado passed over the northern part of Gallatin Sunday evening at 5:30 o'clock, lasting about five minutes. It could be heard for some distance, and the storm king came with terrific force, uprooting trees, lifting roofs, and tearing awnings and signs from their fastenings. The African Methodist church was blown to pieces, and the roof caved in on the congregation. Their screams and cries could be heard a great distance. Ten were taken from the debris and two were so horribly crushed by the roof and falling timbers that they are dying. Granville Brown, the minister, was badly crushed in his pulpit.

Some of the Badly Injured.

Among the wounded and crippled are Ann Martin and Mrs. Mary Hoffman, both are dying: Gilbert Woodford and child, Mary Horton, Mary Lowrey, a child of Nannie Sawyer, Granville Beech, G. Brown and others. All the doctors of the town were soon upon the scene and administered to the dying and wounded. The church was filled, and how any escaped is a miracle. Gallatin's public school was damaged by part of the front blowing in, but the loss is not serious. Fencing and trees were swept away by the storm, and in many private residences carpets were blown from the floors and furniture smashed into kindling wood. No other loss of life is reported up to 9 o'clock. The tornado took a southwesterly course, and very heavy rain fell during the time.

Great Wind Storm at Tiffin, Ohio.

TIFFIN, Ohio, June 30.—This city and the section north of here were visited Sunday afternoon by the heaviest rain and wind storm of recent experience. Nearly two and a half inches of rain fell in less than half an hour, flooding the streets and inundating cellars in all parts of the city. The wind tore the roof off the Ohio Stove works, and damaged other buildings in various parts of the city. Shade trees were prostrated and loose articles scattered about promiscuously. A peculiarity of the wind was its frequent and sudden shifting from one point of the compass to its direct opposite.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Two Great Blazes at Louisville—Seven Persons Injured.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 30.—The immense plant of the Allen Bradley Distillery company at Southall and Thorn streets, was completely destroyed by fire Monday morning, entailing a loss of not less than $150,000; fully insured. The distillery was formerly the celebrated Newcomb-Buchanan company. The Allen-Bradley company is headed by Marshall Allen, of New York, one of the greatest distillers in the world, and W. E. Bradley, of Frankfort. They have two other distilleries at the latter place. By hard work the fire was kept from the bonded ware house.

Another Great Blaze.

For three hours Monday morning a fierce fire raged at the refinery of the Standard Oil company in South Louisville, destroying the entire plant, including several tanks filled with oil. By the explosion of the tanks seven persons were injured. Their names are: John Klein, Seth Skene, John Pedige, John McDonald, Andrew McDonald, Daniel O'Neil, and John O'Neil. The injuries of John McDonald and Daniel O'Neil are considered fatal, while Skene is dangerously hurt. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Great Blaze at Rahway, N. J.

RAHWAY, N. J., June 30.—Fire started at 11:30 Sunday night in the large wall paper factory of Jardine & Co., in the suburb of this city. The firemen were greatly handicapped by the lack of water. Owing to the inflammable nature of the building and its contents it was soon a total wreck. The loss is very heavy and will exceed $100,000. There were many valuable patterns destroyed which can not be replaced. The fire originated in the color mixing room from spontaneous combustion. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

A Blaze at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 30.—At half past 4 o'clock Monday morning a passer-by discovered a fire in rear of George Huhn's drug store on Nicollet avenue. It was two hours before the flames were extinguished. Marder Luse & Co., type founders, who occupied the upper stories, are the greatest losers. Their loss will exceed $50,000. Geo. Huhn's stock of drugs is almost a total loss, and the building is greatly damaged. He estimates the loss at $50,000. The loss is about half covered by insurance.

Prominent Chicago Merchant Dead.

CHICAGO, June 30.—Abijah Keith, one of Chicago's prominent merchants, died at his residence, 85 Rush street, at 3:30 o'clock Sunday morning. NOTES FROM FOREIGN CLIMES.

Wolseley Didn't Raise the Flag.

LONDON, June 30.—Lord Wolseley is in something of a muddle. He has quietly accepted for years from his biographer and others the credit of having raised the British flag on the mess house at the relief of Lucknow, in 1857. It was an act of some daring, and the reputation of having performed it brought him no little honor. Archibald Forbes has clearly shown, however, that not Wolseley, but Lieut. (now Gen. Sir Frederick) Roberts raised the flag on that occasion, under a shower of bullets from the enemy.

Parnell Makes a Grave Charge.

LONDON, June 30.—At the banquet of the National Liberal club Saturday in honor of the forty-fourth anniversary of the birth of Parnell, the latter, after eulogizing Justin McCarthy as the beau ideal of an Irish member, excused the Irish members who were absent on the occasion of the vote on the compensation clause, on the ground, among others, that if a whip had been issued it would have defeated its purpose, because the government opened all letters of Irish members.

Bank Failure at Buenos Ayres.

LONDON, June 30.—The Buenos Ayres correspondent of The Times telegraphs that the National Bank of Buenos Ayres suspended payment on Saturday and that the shares of the bank fell from 168 to 100 and closed at 118. Charles Decker Is Dead.

MORRIS, Ills., June 30.—Sunday afternoon at 3:20 Charles Decker died without returning to consciousness sufficiently to give any account of the attack upon him and his mother. At one time there was a lucid interval in which he was asked if he could identify the murderers, and he answered yes, but immediately passed into an unconscious condition. Sunday the missing box was found near the railroad track, it having been taken with papers from the house. The mother is still in a critical condition. The object of the murder remains as much a mystery as ever.

It Was Pain Killer, Sure Enough.

CARLISLE, Pa., June 30.—John Kampfer, a railroad employe at Huntsdale, has been arrested, charged with the murder of his wife, who died Thursday shortly after he had given her what he said was pain killer. Mrs. Kampfer's brother instigated the proceedings against the prisoner, and he procured evidence to the effect that Kampfer had treated his wife badly, and threatened to put her out of the way.

Crimes Resulting from Liquor.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 30.—During a quarrel at McKeesport Pat Brierly, a mill worker, shot a man named Ralston dead in a "speak easy." Brierly escaped across the river. At North Sewickley, a short distance from here, James Burnett stabbed Joe Cottley and instantly killed him. Both parties were under the influence of hard cider and bad beer. The murderer was captured in a short time.

Two Brothers Drowned.

CHURCH DEDICATION.

Ceremonious and Memorable Event at Philadelphia.

CATHEDRAL OF SS. PETER AND PAUL

Consecrated with All the Pomp and Ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church—Cardinal Gibbons and Other Distinguished Prelates Present—A Sermon by a Methodist Minister Attacking St. John's College Which Caused a Sensation.

PHILADELPHIA, June 30.—With all the pomp and ceremony of the Roman Catholic church, the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, at Eighteenth and Race streets, was consecrated Monday. No more ceremonious or memorable event has ever transpired in the history of the church in America. The most distinguished prelates in the country attended, with Cardinal Gibbons at their head, and the ceremonies were to the last degree solemn and impressive. All the magnificent accessories that pertain to the more important ritual of the church were present. Thousands of the faithful in this city, and from other cities as well, filled every foot of room and left crowds upon the street outside of the sacred edifice.

Made the Circle Thrice.

At 5:30 o'clock Monday morning the consecration service took place. The procession, which formed at that hour, made the circle of the cathedral thrice, the archbishop sprinkling the walls with holy water. At the end of the third circuit the archbishop knocked with his staff on the door of the cathedral, which opened for him to enter with those of the clergy concerned in the consecration. The people and the rest of the procession remained outside. Ashes had been strewn on the church floor before the altar, and approaching the spot, Archbishop Ryan formed a cross with the letters of the Greek and Latin alphabets, symbolizing the instruction to be given to Catechumens in the elements of the Catholic faith.

Solemn Pontifical Mass.

The blessing of the five altars came next and then the consecrator and the clergy passed three times around the inside of the church, blessing the walls and the floor. The sepulchers under the altars and the ornaments and holy vessels were consecrated and the ceremony proper ended after enduring over four hours. The great public event was the celebration of solemn pontificial mass at 11 o'clock. The mass began with the greatest congregation ever held by the cathedral, now forever dedicated to the service of the Roman Catholic church. Cardinal Gibbons delivered a splendid oration on the occasion. After the mass was over the clergy went on a special train to St. Charles seminary, Overbrook, where dinner was served. Pontificial vespers were celebrated at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, and a sermon delivered by Rt. Rev. Bishop Hennessy, of Iowa.

A SENSATIONAL SERMON

Preached by a Metodist Minister About St. John's College.

BALTIMORE, June 30.—A tremendous sensation was created in Annapolis by a sermon preached by the Rev. Dr. E. W. Huntley, pastor of the First Methodist church. He preached upon "the spirit of St. John's college is hostile to the principles of Methodism, and, therefore, the Methodist Episcopal church should furnish the institution with no more students." He said the duty of preaching upon this subject had been fixed upon him by what had taken place at St. John's college during the last few days, and he challenged the educational institutions of America to duplicate the variety of entertainments which had occurred in McDowell hall during the commencement week.

The Alumni Banquet.

He asked: "In what room, furnished by the authorities of any other college in America, has been given during a single commencement season such a variety of entertainments as the farewell hop, baccalaureate sermon, exercises of the Philokolian society, followed by a hop, exercises of the Philomathean society, followed by a hop, graduating exercises, alumni banquet, the menu of which specified Roman punch, sherry, claret, and champagne as among the things provided? The children of Methodist parents ought not to be committed to the care of an educational institution, some members of whose faculty are not averse to wine drinking, and three of whom, I am credibly informed, have been seen at one time playing pool or billiards in the billiard room of a hotel, and that within the last month.

Should Furnish No More Students.

"I am more than justified in calling your attention to the discussion of the proposition, the Methodist Episcopal church ought to furnish no more students for St. John's college—(1) because the dominant spirit of the institution is not conducive to the formation or development of Christian character, (2) because the college authorities permit and sanction proceedings which are hostile to the letter and inimical to the spirit of Methodism, (3) because this condition of things seems to have been accepted by the college as its settled policy and we have no data upon which to build a hope for any change which will render the administration less antagonistic to the principles of Methodism."

Suit for $15,000 Damages.

LANSING, Mich., June 30.—The Rev. Louis Vandriss has begun a $15,000 slander suit against one of his parishioners, John P. Miller, under the sanction and permission of Bishop Foley. Mr. Vandriss has been pastor of St. Mary's church here for a quarter of a century and this action is the result of an old time split and wrangle in his parish. The faction opposed to Vandriss had an investigation made into the affairs of the church, alleging that the priest had used the funds for wrong purposes and making many other charges. John Miller was the leader of this faction, and is made defendant in the suit. He is a wealthy farmer living near here. When Bishop Foley took charge of the diocese he investigated the charges, and publicly announced them groundless.

CALL A HALT.

The measure in Congress that has received the most consideration of late is the election bill that seems to be the joint product of Jonathan Rowell and somebody from Massachusetts. By the bill it is proposed to take the election of congressman out of the hands of the people and put it in the hands of appointees of the government. As said by Gen. Palmer a few days ago, it is an attempt to depopularize the House. The end that is aimed at by the present promoters of the bill is the perpetuation of the republican party, and especially of the party's policy of unequal taxation. In the minds of these men the end will justify any means that can be thought of, but would it not be well for the people to make preparations to call a halt now while the thing is comparatively easy?

Congressman Cummings, of New York, made a great speech against this bill last Saturday in which he said, "there is no pretense that a majority of the people would sanction such a law. If it could be submitted to a popular vote, it would be sent to perdition, where it belongs, by an overwhelming majority." We think Mr Cummings told the plain truth in this statement. Let us look at the bill as it must appear to the sober thought of the people who live in this Congressional District.

It provides that upon the petition of a certain number of men, responsible or otherwise, that a U. S. Circuit Judge may name a supervisor of the election in this district. This supervisor apoints a large number of deputies; and they have entire control over the result of the election. We take it that the people of this district have been guilty of no great crime that should result in their possible disfranchisement. The return made by the chief supervisor of the election is incontrovertible evidence that the man he favors has been elected. Do our people seriously conclude that they wish to give up their voice in such a matter? True, the republican convention that met in Decatur on a memorable Friday resolved that such a course would be advisable, but we have long since learned that convention was in the hands of men who desired to pile taffy on Rowell as the price they wanted to pay for a post-office. If Rowell had introduced a bill that was full of legislation for the moon, that convention would have gazed wistfully at the post-office and applauded the man from Bloomington. When it said that our possible disfranchisement was a desirable thing it represented this county just as faithfully as when it o up a congressional delegation that preferred Rowell to all other men.

The republican of the patriotic stripe may just now say that his party can not get the worst of the appointment of supervisors; and if anyone here wishes to petition such an appointment, the republican candidate will not have his chances endangered thereby. This is the patriotic republican who can only think that the success of his party is the sole end of existence on earth, and who instinctively takes it for granted that none but republicans will be named as chief supervisors by republican circuit judges. The course of that man's reasoning is such as should make citizens who are more than partisans condemn the bill that is presented by Lodge and Rowell.

But the patriotic partisan is a hopeless case; he is in favor of anything that will help the party's demands of the hour. He would gladly trade off every right that was earned by better men through years of almost hopeless war for another term of power. He cant see that the people have rights under this government; his notions never go farther than party. But there certainly must be a large body of republicans who believe that after all it is best to [illegible] the people who do not believe in trading off a sacred right for a possible temporary advantage. It was said that Speaker Reed was ready to rise above principle for the sake of his party; there must be thousands of republicans who are not ready to follow in that course.

The citizen who stops to think over this matter, whatever his politics, must know that the day may come when these election supervisors will be used against him. A thousand republicans in this district may at any time conclude that they are tired of the policy of taxation that keeps our people poor and enriches the long headed schemers that live on the barren hillsides of New England and those superlative patriots who serve their country by raising wool in Ohio and claiming special consideration therefor. A change of over 1,000 votes makes this district a close one, and so makes it necessary for the monopolists to bestir themselves to save Rowell. It is then they would hunt up 100 men to send in a petition to our circuit judge for the appointment of election supervisors. Then the question would come up pointedly, what have we done that we are not allowed to take care of our own elections?

Just yet we haven't done anything that should disfranchise us, but the moment we indorse the author of a force bill at the polls, then we have signed away our rights in the matter, and there is not left to us even ground for complaint. Some patriot will say, "we want a congressman from the South; we want several more than we are now getting." It is his contention that a majority is driven away from the polls by a minority in that country. A great deal has been said about that by both sides; it is useless to go further into it now. But must we give away the right to control our own congressional elections in order that some other people, charged with guilt by partisans, may be be brought to punishment? Where is the justice in such a proceeding as that?

Some innocent may immagine that we stand in no great danger of having supervisors thrust upon us. These men should not fool themselves any longer. The high and unequal taxers have control of the republican party. They are not fighting for the love of party so much as for their own interests. Their force bill is proposed only that they may insure the continuance of a congress that will favor their ideas of political economy. When the people in this district get tired of such ideas they are liable to run up against an election supervisor who is paid by the day to see that they shall prevail. When any set of men propose anything that amounts to a constitutional change, it is the duty of the people to look at the possibilities that are wrapped up in the proposal. In such a case you have nothing to do with the plausible probabilities that are told over sweetly by the promoters of the bill.

And when Reed and Rowell and Lodge come to you with a scheme by which they propose to beat the Southern white man, it is your duty to inquire if the same scheme might not not be used to beat you. And if it can be used in this way, have nothing to do with it. The right to work out our own elections, without any interference from irresponsible parties, is entirely too valuable a thing to be trusted to any set of party managers. The moment we admit the omnipotent election supervisor we may bid farewell to free elections, unless it is our free will to vote as some man like Quay may tell us.

SOMEONE has informed THE REVIEW that the H-D in reporting the Catholic picnic at Bethany got hold of a free fight and other things of a similar nature. The H-D had no man on the ground and so it was compelled to depend upon the Fourth page editor's imagination for a report. Now when his imagination is turned loose it rushes to beer and free fights just as easily as a duck takes to water. There was some sort of a scuffle on the grounds among two or three little boys, but one would think that men who are supposed to be grown wouldn't notice such things. It must have taken an immense amount of deep-rooted prejudice to magnify that kids' scramble into a fight. And why shouldn't little boys cavort in vigorous fashion while the great governor of the state is out of sight doing his perennial previous engagement act?

IT used to be the fashion in this town for certain newspapers to swear at Cleveland because he went fishing on Decoration Day. This sneer grows very weak as the time of our local annual snooze, Independence Day, approaches. Some of the patriotism hereabouts has no trouble to contain itself when there is no office in sight.

SOME time since the "hireling press" in this town struck for living wages for its work in publishing the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors. At that time The Labor Bulletin anxiously proffered its services at a cut on the old starvation rates. Now a friend drops in to inquire if it would be proper to call The Labor Bulletin a scab.

THEY tell us that the tory government is about to depart this life in England. We would like to know if the republican party has made any official preparation to go into mourning? But maybe it is not quite sure which one of the cousins will die first. The one on this side will hang on until November.

WHAT have the tombstone patriots to say to the erection of white umbrellas at the rate of $3.50 a day? It is hoped this question is not too near home to secure their early auk distinguished attention.

THE man who wants a name for the bill that was put at the corner of East Main and North Water by a street car company is asked to state if "Ferguson's Cheek" would suit.

THE census enumerator who couldn't find as many people as his boom neighbor was able to imagine is now the most unpopular man in a thousand towns in this country.

SINCE the street commissioner has retired, would it not be well to give the cows a chance at the weeds that grow on some of our streets?

Married.

Milton Taylor and Miss Mattie Masterson, both of Decatur, were married in Springfield last Saturday.

SOME AMERICAN EXPORTS.

Falsity of the Cry That We Cannot Sell in the World's Markets.

American manufacturers have made considerable progress in some lines of goods in gaining for themselves a foreign market. The Boston Advertiser has recently published a list of New England mills which manufacture for the export trade. The Jackson Manufacturing company at Nashua, N. H., exports more than 30,000,000 yards of cotton goods a year. Another mill exports 10,000,000 yards. There are other large mills which export considerable amounts. Our total exports of cotton cloth last year were 120,000,000 yards. A large number of the mills in New England find a foreign market for portions of their outputs, consisting almost entirely of sheetings, shirtings and drillings.

The principal points of export are China, South America and Africa. Many of the New England mills ship goods to South America, and large orders are received from houses in China.

One would think that these cotton mills would exert themselves to the utmost to get control of as large a foreign market as possible, but such is not the case. An agent of one of them makes the following report:

"If the cotton mills would only cater more to the foreign trade they would have a market for their goods whenever business gets dull at home. The South American trade is especially desirable, and could be easily built up if the manufacturers would look into and consider the necessary points to be covered. Whenever there is a depression at home, as at present, they think of the export trade more seriously, but the very minute the home demand springs up and increases they have entirely forgotten export interests, which if developed in the proper way would serve them well in future dull periods."

The New York Dry Goods Economist, the principal trade paper of the dry goods trade in the United States, is of precisely the same opinion. With regard to our cotton manufactures it says:

"The majority never give any thought to the export trade until the home market is glutted and stocks must be moved. Then they sell at any prices they can get until they bring the home market to the better condition previously described. That is the sole reason why the export trade in cotton goods is no larger and so variable."

This shows such a perversion of the usual instinct of shrewd business men to search out new markets and to exert their ingenuity to hold them that one naturally demands a reason for this lack of enterprise. Can it be that the habit of looking to the tariff to keep prices up has begotten a spirit of dependence and has sapped the old time courage which floated American commerce in all parts of the world? Has the home market delusion really made our manufacturers think that the home market is itself sufficient to take all we can produce? Has all this twaddle of the high Protectionist orator about our not being able to compete in the markets of the world caused the manufacturers to lose their self reliance? Has the baby cry of "We can't" really made commercial cowards or drones of our manufacturers?

In a case, however, where we have gained a foothold in foreign markets one would think that congress might at least be depended upon to place no obstacle in the way of the foreign sales of our wares. But such is not the case. Cotton underwear has been exported by the Glastenbury (Conn.) Knitting company. Treasurer George W. Scott now says: "Under the McKinley tariff bill all this will be stopped, as the increased cost of trimmings will prevent almost any dry goods whatever being exported. The extra duty on pearl buttons alone will add 5 [illegible] to the cost of manufacturing underwear." New England has quite too much of that kind of "protection," and the country at large certainly has enough of the stupidity of a congress which converts this "protection" into a blight and a hindrance to both producer and consumer

Cancer of the Nose.

In 1875 a sore appeared on my nose, and grew rapidly. As my father had cancer, and my husband died of it, I became alarmed, and consulted my physician. His treatment did no good, and the sore grew larger and worse in every way, until I had concluded that I was to die from its effects. I was persuaded to take S. S. S., and a few bottles cured me. This was after all the doctors and other medicines had failed. I have had no return of the cancer.

A Healthy Business Growth.

Large casks containing Haviland's China are coming every day to Otto E. Curtis & Bros.' new China department. These goods are shipped direct from Limoges, France, the import orders having been sent over last January and February. This department will soon be ready to open up, and will be the handsomest thing of this kind in the west, with the exception of one operated by the millionaire jewelers, "M. S. Smith & Co.," at Detroit, Mich., which is the handsomest China room in the United State. The Curtis Bros. are going to handle all fine China from "open stock," that is, you buy your dinner set just as you want it, and do not have to take a certain "set" or "make-up." You can have one-half dozen or any number of the pieces for the table. This city method of handling China will be appreciated by the ladies.

Miss Cora Wamsley, formerly with Bartholomew & Co., will have charge of this department, which occupies the entire second floor of the Curtis & Bro.'s building. Mr. O. E. Curtis leaves in a short time for New York on his summer trip of inspection and to purchase goods for their immense store in all the departments. It is the intention of these merchants to make their "Art Room" the place to go when in search of wedding presents, bronze and marble clocks, piano lamps, banquet lamps, statuary pedestals, figures in bronze bisque, etc. In fact we think from the way the place looks now that seekers will find that there is no use to look elsewhere in Decatur for anything in the way of presents, whether it be diamonds, watches, solid silver bric-a-brac, fine China, cut glass, art pottery, or a silver thimble.

S. E. Gross. S. E. Gross.

The world's greatest real estate dealer; 30,000 lots sold; 7,000 houses built and sold; 16 thriving cities located in the past 10 years.

Young man invest your earnings in Chicago lots, for Chicago is bound to become the largest city in the world. The giant has burst his bonds, and is spreading in all directions. The suburb of to-day is the city itself to morrow. You may say, "I can't, for I have only $25 or $50.00." That is enough. S. E. Gross, a man who in the last 10 years has built up in Chicago the greatest real estate business in the world; S. E. Gross, who owns 16 subdivisions, makes you this generous offer: lots that will double in value inside of a year; one-tenth cash, balance small monthly payments, long time. These terms place Chicago lots the most desirable investment known to-day within the reach of anyone. Are you going to be blind to your own interests, and let the opportunity slip by? I think not. Every mechanic, every laborer, merchant and business man should own a title to a portion of God's green earth that he might call his own. There is no better or safer investment than in S. E. Gross' subdivisions. Call and see his salesman, J. H. Gross, who is stopping at the St. Nicholas hotel, where he will take pleasure to show you plats and maps of S. E. Gross' 16 subdivisions. Don't miss the opportunity of a lifetime to make money. You may never again have the same opportunity offered you. The sooner you buy the more you will make. Lots going up all the time. Study the subject and you will be convinced that it will pay you to own some of S. E. Gross' lots. Call and investigate.

Universalist Church.

"The Philosophy of Universalism" was the theme of Rev. Sophie Gibb, at the Universalist church Sunday evening, and was an able presentation of the fundamental principles of that broad and hopeful faith, which she said was belief in the existence of a supreme being, the neutral triumph of good over evil, and the salvation of all, that punishment follows violation of moral law the same as physical. Rev. Gibb goes to New York for a three weeks' vacation. An interesting literary program was announced for Thursday night of this week. The topic for discussion, "How Can we Remain Young?"

Decatur Ahead.

The Illinois Central strike has paralyzed the fruit business of the northwest. Chicago is complaining bitterly of the lack of fruit, and all along the line from that city to New Orleans, car loads of bananas are rotting on side tracks, but George W. Ehrhart & Co. have not been disappointed. Thirty two cars of Fourth of July Port Limon bananas are on track in Decatur, having arrived via. Wabash to-day. Nobody need suffer for lack of the delicious fruit here. They are abundant and of excellent quality. Yours truly,

GEORGE W. EHRHART & CO.

Notice.

I want the people to understand that I am not guilty of the charge that was made against me by the police officers who arrested me on the 21st of June. I was charged with appearing on the streets in the garb of nature, but I was decently clothed, and the time being between three and four o'clock in the morning, there was no one on the streets but the police officers who arrested me, who did arrest me until I had returned to bed. J. LITCHTENBERGER.

We are the Pioneers.

Andy and Mike Kremling & Cuttle, are the pioneers that laid nineteen-twentieths of all the artificial stone walk in Decatur. There is no other man living in Decatur that ever laid a 1000 feet of walk in the city. We are now ready to take contracts for any quantity of work and do the work as cheap if not cheaper than any contractor either in and out of the city. Leave orders with V. H. Parke & Son.

KREMLING & CUTTLE.

Mayor's Proclamation.

By virtue of the city ordinances order is hereby given that on the coming Fourth of July the firing of shot guns, pistols and other firearms within the city will be positively prohibited. All persons found shooting guns or pistols or throwing fire crackers or other explosives on streets or sidewalks, will be promptly arrested.

M. L. KANAN, Mayor.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

DAVID LOGAN.

Early yesterday morning David Logan, aged 73 and one of the oldest residents of Macon county, died at his home near Antioch church about five miles southeast of Decatur. His death is the result of being overheated while working in his garden. He was a good man, a kind father and husband and a man respected by all who knew him. He leaves a widow and ten children.

David Logan was born in Garrard county, Ky., Sept. 30th, 1816. He was the eldest of 10 children, five of whom survive him. He was married to Nancy Baxter on Jan. 18th, 1837, who survives him. He was the father of 12 children, two of whom are dead. Those yet living are Martha Leech, Hugh Logan, Mary Eichenger, James M. Logan, Rice Logan, of Colorado; George W. Logan, Sarah J. Logan, Lafayette Logan, and William J. Logan. He came to this state in the fall of 1853, and resided in this county until his death, with the exception of four years during which he lived in Christian county.

The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence and the interment will be made in the Salem graveyard.

JOSEPH KETCHUM.

Joseph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Ketchum, died at his home, near Blue Mound, Sunday night, of blood poisoning. deceased was kicked by a horse a couple of weeks ago, but as the injury was not severe, no serious result was anticipated until about a week ago, when the injured part commenced swelling and continued to swell and pain, until death came to the victim's relief. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, Rev. W. L. Bankson conducting the services.

FAY WEIGAND.

Fay, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Weigand, died Sunday morning of cholera infantum, at the home of her parents, 241 East Main street. The funeral took place Sunday evening, Rev. S. F. Glob officiating. The Universalist choir furnished the vocal music. Among the floral tributes was a pillow with the letters Fay, name of the babe.

KLAUSER VAUGHT.

Klauser, the 13 months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Vaught, died last Sunday of congestion. The funeral took place from the family residence, 1257 North Church street, Rev. M. L. Wagner officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

George P. Blume's New Residence.

George P. Blume, who has resided on the corner of Prairie avenue and College street, for twelve years, will this week move off the house, which at present he occupies, to a lot on Monroe street, and will then erect a large and pleasant home in its place. The plans have been drawn by R O. Rosen. The main entrance will be from the south into a vestibule. Back of this will be a reception hall, from which rises a beautiful stairway. East of the vestibule is the parlor, and both of it is the back parlor. West of the back parlor is the dining hall, and in the rear of it all is the kitchen, pantry and bathroom. The parlors, dining hall and reception hall are connected by sliding doors, and can be thrown into one room. On the second flour will be a large sitting-room and four chambers, together with bathrooms and closets. It will be furnished with all the modern improvements, and will cost about $4,000.

Quietly Married.

B. Alex McGorray and Miss Lillie Shlaudeman were married last night by Rev. W. H. Penhallegon, at the residence of Henry Shlaudeman on South Webster street. Only a few near relatives were present at the wedding, which was a very quiet one.

The young couple will at once go to housekeeping in their new home already prepared on East Cantrell street.

Both young people have many friends. The groom is D. A. Maffitt's righthand man in the ice business, and the bride is the eldest daughter of Henry Shlaudeman. Their happiness appears to be certain.

Coming back, their horse got scared, ran away, broke the buggy and raised the dickens generally. The ladies walked until they reached the terminus of the Condito street car line and then took the cars into the city. They had some of the cherries with them, notwithstanding the runaway, and were not altogether unhappy.

A WOMAN'S HAPPY LIFE.

SHE MANAGES TO LIVE IN COMPARATIVE LUXURY ON $1,000.

How a Family of Six Enjoys Existence in a Suburban Village—A Small House, Garden, Cow and a Cozy Home—An Ideal Picture—Healthy Summer Outings.

One thousand dollars with economy, thrift and a wise generosity is abundant wealth and secures all the needed pleasures of living. How do I know? I have tried it and proved it so.

During nine years of married life, beginning on an income of $500, I have had all the necessaries, and many of the luxuries of life. I have now four healthy, strong and handsome boys, the youngest 2 years old. We have that indispensable comfort of an American household, a cheerful and intelligent cook. One thousand dollars covers all the expenses of our family of seven and the "not infrequent guest." My husband's life is insured in an endowment policy, which is all the provision we have yet made for the traditional "rainy day."

Our bills are all paid, and we can face the future bravely and fearlessly.

I was myself a college bred girl, and our friends all shook their heads nine years ago at our improvident marriage. But it has proved to be the most genuine prosperity that could have overtaken us both.

But I must describe our "modus operandi."

In the first place our home is in one of the beautiful country villages where my husband is employed on a salary of $1,000 a year. Of that we pay $300 per annum for a sunny house of eleven rooms, with garden and stable adjoining; $130 more goes for household help; $20 for literary matter; our coal bill is $50; our kerosene bill with breakage on lamps and chimneys, $15; interest on life assurance, $75; church sittings and benevolences, $50; pasturage for cow and feed during winter, $65; traveling expenses, $45. Total, $600, leaving $400 for table and clothes.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST.

In regard to clothing, we buy only the very best, which we find to be the wisest economy. We buy nothing ready made, I make everything that is worn by myself and the boys. And my husband's suits are custom made. The children are not only healthy, but well dressed. I cut down their father's suits for the older boys, sponging and turning them. When I can no longer remodel my gowns for myself I can always get a kilt or coat out of them for the younger children. A package of dye will readily change the color to any new and desirable shade. One year I buy for myself a black silk, the next a Henriotta cloth of some fashionable shade, and which I can renew at any time by dyeing black. By this means I have always two handsome street costumes.

My husband gets one new suit a year, for which he pays $35. His other wearing apparel brings his clothing bill up to $60, and he always makes a good appearance. I remove my street costume the moment I come into the house. I always wear soft flannels for house dresses—white in summer, dull, warm shades in winter. These are not expensive and make over beautifully for the children.

The shoe, stocking and hat bill for the boys I find the highest of all, but $150 a year covers our clothing expenses. I might remark in passing that I find it very satisfactory to buy the best grade of balbriggan hosiery, white or cream, for my husband and self, and bright colored stockings for the children. These I dye a fast black, and find them stronger and the color more durable than the most expensive grades of black cotton or lisle thread stockings. We have now $250 left for table expenses. "Two hundred and fifty dollars for the table?" I hear you exclaim. "Why, that is but a generous meat allowance!" Yes, we live on $5 a week and live well. I am sure there is not a more appetizing table set anywhere.

PLENTY OF HEALTHFUL FOOD.

My children have never been sick for one day, and their rosy skins and strong white teeth give evidence of nourishing food. We have an unvarying rule of meat only once a day. Our butcher's bill never exceeds $6 per month. We buy the cheaper pieces of meat and cook them in a savory way, excepting our roasts, which are always of the best. A roast of five pounds makes us three dinners. The second day the meat is cut from the bones and made up into meat pie, croquettes, or, if rare, we often slice it thin, fry quickly in butter, spread on neatly trimmed toast and pour over all a rich gravy made of cream, browned flour and seasoning. The third day the bones are cracked, vegetables added and a rich consomme is the result. We use a great many oysters, clams and fish in their season. Our breakfasts are always of fruit, cereals, brown bread or muffins, gems or the like, with honey from our bees, coffee for the adults and plenty of good rich milk for the children.

For ten months during the year we have from our beautiful Alderney, which we have named Butterfly, all the milk we can use. Butterfly gives eighteen quarts of milk daily in the spring, averaging from eight to nine in the winter. We have fresh eggs the whole year through and plenty of spring chickens for table use. Our garden, which my husband spades up in the mornings a little at a time and together we plant and keep weeded, yields an abundance of succulent vegetables, so that during the summer and early autumn we can be really extravagant and have five or six different kinds of vegetables at the noonday dinner.

Our suppers are fit for a king, though suitable to a peasant's purse. A pudding, a salad, berries or other ripe fruit in season, canned fruit during winter, with delicious cream, such as no milkman ever supplies; chocolate, cocoa or tea, and cake; with cream, butter and eggs of our own cake is reduced to a minimum of expense, and in its ever changing forms is always a part of our evening meal.

My letter is long, but I must tell of our summer outing. My husband is the fortunate possessor of a big tent. This we pitch on different parts of the Jersey coast during successive seasons—not with the "madding throng," but off by ourselves in a quiet nook. There we have an ideal summer. With gun and rod we find the long days all too short, and come back after two months with a fund of health and happy memories. During these two months "Butterfly" is rented out at $10 per month. Our vegetables are sent down twice a week, and there is no accumulation of big black debts to take from our summer's pleasure.—Cor. New York World.

"THE : POWER : BEHIND : THE : THRONE"

At the Ferriss & Lapham shoe store, 148 East Main street is the same today as it was 25 years ago. This power in years past was sufficient to build up and maintain a trade equalled by few and excelled by none in Central Illinois. How was it done? By giving people better shoes for less money than any competitor. How was this possible? By buying more advantageously and selling more goods. The same power which has been so successful in years past is more mighty today than in the past years. Our watchword is quantity. We are after the volume of the business, not the size of each profit. We have perfect faith that if we sell goods enough, the gross profit will be satisfactory, even though the gain on each article sold be ever so small. Come and see what a small margin of profit we are satisfied with on every article in our stock.

THE HOT WEATHER

Still Overcomes Men and Four Footed Animals.

While not as warm yesterday as during the past week, the weather was well nigh intolerable, and men and four footed animals succumbed to the heat.

Yesterday afternoon James Moran of the firm of Goodman & Moran, was out in the northern part of the city taking orders, was overcome with the heat and fell out of his wagon. He was picked up and taken to the residence of Mrs. Leahy, and Dr. D. N. Moore sent for. After three hour work with the young man the doctor pronounced him all right, and later in the evening Mr. Moran was able to go to his home on East Eldorado street, where he rested reasonably well during the night.

A boy named Bahm was picked up in an unconscious condition in the weeds near Tait's check row factory yesterday evening late. He had been overcome by the heat, and had fallen there. He was taken to his home in the northern part of the city, and medical aid summoned. He is in a very precarious condition but may pull through.

Several persons around the city complain of feeling unwell because of the intense heat; headaches have become chronic and a tired painful feeling has become a common thing.

Among four-footed animals the suffering and loss are both great. Numerous farmers have lost valuable stock, one man near Macon losing seven head of horses Sunday the result of overheat on Saturday. W. T. Dillehunt also lost a valuable $200 horse and farmers generally complain of loss of the animals themselves or of their services, which is almost as bad in this busy season of the year.

Names for the Park.

Nothing since the park question itself was settled has excited greater interest than THE REVIEW's plan for getting a name for the park. The result of the first week's work as printed Sunday caused a good deal of comment and evoked much lively discussion. Half a dozen other names were received yesterday and the second week's list promises to assume magnificent proportions. Contributions, if not too long are welcome, and if there is a reason why any particular name is appropriate, let the dear people know it.

Of the names suggested yesterday, 'Logan Park" and "Fairview Park" seem to be prime favorites.

Decatur Genius Broke Loose.

The divine Afflatus is born, not made, and the "Afflatus" in the bosom of the poet who poetized in The Evening Republican must have been born long, long ago, and then born again recently. The metrical jingle is more harmonious than the tintinabulation of the cowbells on the breeze, as the country lads and lassies try to tree a swarm of bees. And the rhyme is sweeter than the distillations of the best XXXX New Orleans product. So sweet is that in comparison with it "honey has done los' its tas'," as a worthy colored brother once remarked, after tasting his inamorata's lips, and they justly entitle the author to the position of poet extraordinary of the order of "God Help the Poor" reader. Listen:

"Oh, you must be a lover of the order of the Sons,
Oh, you must be a lover of the order of the Sons,
Oh, you must be a lover of the order of the Sons,
Or you can't go to Decatur in the year '91."

Shades of the dear departed makers of rhymes please do not rattle your bones together so fiercely in your agony! He meant well, and did the best he could. And Sons of Veterans do not lay up vengeance against the man who could thus go for your order. His heart is all right and you must blame Nature for the rest. Forgive him this once and cut out the following advice and paste it in your hats for use when the next offense is committed.

Oh you should be a puller of the trigger of a gun.
Oh you should be a puller of a trigger of a
gun.
Oh you should be a puller of the trigger of a
gun,
And you mustn't know it's loaded when you shoot it just for fun.

The Weather.

Yesterday was one of the most agreeable days in over a week. The temperature was high, but not as high as it has been, and there was a good breeze all day. The thermometer stood as follows at the hours named:

6 a. m.	82	6 p. m.	90
10 a. m.	93	8 p. m.	87
12 m.	96	10 p. m.	82
2 p. m.	96	12 m.	78
4 p. m.	93	2 a. m.	77

Sunday was a hot day. At noon the thermometer stood at 100, and it did not fall much until after dark.

Almost a Fatality

The blood in the veins of the people on North Water street ran cold last evening as they saw a little child almost under the wheels of a Water street car. The band was playing in front of Brenneman's place, and the child, attracted by the music, was standing near the outer edge of the crowd, on the track. In some way it fell or was knocked down, with its feet on the rails. A car was coming on, and in another moment would have been on top of the child, when Fred O. Jones shoved it off the rails. Officer Williamson then picked the little one up and removed it to a place of safety.

The Race This Evening.

The 15 mile bicycle race to take place this evening at the race race track promises to be an event worth seeing. Some twenty competitors have entered the ring and some of them are experts. The following championship prizes will be competed for:

One Brooks Ideal Cyclometer, or one Garford saddle.

One pair Jersey knit knee pants, or one safety lamp spring back.

One Lampson luggage carrier, or one pair cycle shoes.

One pair Rankin toe clips.

The race will commence promptly at 6:15 p. m.

R. O. Rosen's Fan.

Superintendent R. O. Rosen, of Mills' planing mill and lumber yards is nothing if not inventive, and he is always seeking to add to the comfort of his men. The latest invention which does much good and causes considerable comfort is an immense fan placed in the mill and run by steam. It "raises the wind" every time and makes the air as balmy as a spring day in the south. The employes of that institution are to be congratulated on having such a foreman as Mr. Rosen.

Funeral.

The funeral of Fritz Young took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of John Keck, at the corner of Church and Wood streets. It was largely attended by sympathizing friends, who joined with the relatives in mourning the loss of an estimable young man. The burial was at Greenwood.

The children who are to assist in the singing at the W. C. T. U. celebration at Oakland Park, will meet Prof. Westhoff at the park to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock for practice. The choir of the Universalist church will assist in the singing, and Miss Edna Bunn will give an instrumental solo.

It wouldn't be a bad scheme for the mayor to allow the folks to turn their cows and horses out in the streets to eat down the grass and weeds that disgrace them. DeWitt C. Shockley, Street Commissioner Alexander, and Green Martin could be put herding the stock, and the city be thus saved any further expense in the matter.

Col. McTwiggan, expert extraordinary, who represents the Detroit people in the management of the Short Line, has inaugurated a series of improvements by relieving Tommy Thomas of his position. Thomas was the best man on the line, but the colonel has a few friends outside of Decatur and has concluded to import them.

Speaking of the late strike on the Illinois Central, The Chicago Tribune says: The losses of the road on perishable freight were confined principally to live stock, vegetables, fruits, butter and eggs. At nearly every station between Chicago and Centralia cars were sidetracked. Eleven cars of Georgia watermelons—1,000 to the car—were standing near water tanks along the road, the fruit spoiling. In the case of live stock they were turned loose in pastures. They are now being gathered up and sent to the consignees. A rough estimate of the road's loss places the estimate at $1,000 an hour, and as the strike lasted 103 hours, the loss would thus reach $103,000. The wages of the strikers will be paid for the time they were idle.

Wanted It Back.

The late Henry Ward Beecher used to tell the following story with great gusto. He was teaching a class of street waifs and one ragged little boy was so impressed with his exhortations that he took a jack knife out of his pocket, saying to Mr. Beecher: "You can keep it so's I won't whittle the benches." A little while afterward there was a commotion in the class and the little unkempt sister of the knife owner came up to Mr Beecher and panting with excitement said, "Mr Dominie, Johnny wants his knife again, he's got a chance to trade !"—Once a Week.
